CLIENT COMPLAINT INFORMATION

Clients of a mutual fund dealer who are not satisfied with a financial product or service have a right to make a complaint and to seek resolution of the problem. MFDA Member dealers have a responsibility to their clients to ensure that all complaints are dealt with fairly and promptly. If you have a complaint, these are some of the steps you can take:

- Contact your mutual fund dealer. Member firms are responsible to you, the investor, for monitoring the actions of their representatives to ensure that they are in compliance with by-laws, rules and policies governing their activities. The firm will investigate any complaint that you initiate and respond back to you with the results of their investigation within the time period expected of a Member acting diligently in the circumstances, in most cases within three months of receipt of the complaint. It is helpful if your complaint is in writing.
- Contact the Mutual Fund Dealers Association of Canada (MFDA), which is the self-regulatory organization in Canada to which your mutual fund dealer belongs. The MFDA investigates complaints about mutual fund dealers and their representatives, and takes enforcement action where appropriate. You may make a complaint to the MFDA at any time, whether or not you have complained to your mutual fund dealer. The MFDA can be contacted:
 - By completing the on-line complaint form at www.mfda.ca
 - By telephone in Toronto at 416-361-6332, or toll free at 1-888-466-6332

Compensation:

The MFDA does not order compensation or restitution to clients of Members. The MFDA exists to regulate the operations, standards of practice and business conduct of its Members and their representatives with a mandate to enhance investor protection and strengthen public confidence in the Canadian mutual fund industry. If you are seeking compensation, you may consider the following:

- Ombudsman for Banking Services and Investments (OBSI): You may make a complaint to OBSI after you have complained to the dealer, at either of the following times:
 - If the dealer's Compliance Department has not responded to your complaint within 90 days of the date you complained, or;

OBSI provides an independent and impartial process for the investigation and resolution of complaints about the provision of financial services to clients. OBSI can make a non-binding recommendation that your firm compensate you (up to $350,000) if it determines that you have been treated unfairly, taking into account the criteria of good financial services and business practice, relevant codes of practice or conduct, industry regulation and the law. The OBSI process is free of charge and is confidential. OBSI can be contacted:

- By telephone in Toronto at 416-287-2877, or toll free at 1-888-451-4519

A lawyer can advise you of your options and recourses. Once the applicable limitation period expires, you may lose rights to pursue some claims.
- Manitoba, New Brunswick and Saskatchewan: Securities regulatory authorities in these provinces have the power to, in appropriate cases, order that a person or company that has contravened securities laws in their province pay compensation to a claimant. The claimant is then able to enforce such an order as if it were a judgment of the superior court in that province. For more information, please visit:

SCHEDULE D

BORROWING MONEY TO BUY SECURITIES (LEVERAGE RISK DISCLOSURE)

Under MFDA Rule 2.6 (Borrowing for Securities Purchases), a leverage risk disclosure document containing information prescribed by the MFDA must be provided to all clients when

- (a) a new account is opened for the client; and
- (b) an Approved Person makes a recommendation for purchasing securities by borrowing or otherwise becomes aware of a client borrowing monies for the purpose of investment, provided such disclosure has not been provided within the previous six months.

When an Approved Person makes a recommendation for purchasing securities by borrowing or otherwise becomes aware of a client borrowing monies for the purpose of investment in a non-registered account, a Registered Retirement Savings Plan (RRSP) or Registered Education Savings Plan (RESP) the long-form disclosure below must be provided.

Risk of Borrowing to Invest

Here are some risks and factors that you should consider before borrowing to invest:

Is it Right for You?

Borrowing money to invest is risky. You should only consider borrowing to invest if:

- You are comfortable with taking risk.
- You are comfortable taking on debt to buy investments that may go up or down in value.
- You are investing for the long-term.
- You have a stable income.

You should not borrow to invest if:

- You have a low tolerance for risk.
- You are investing for a short period of time.
- You intend to rely on income from the investments to pay living expenses.
- You intend to rely on income from the investments to repay the loan. If this income stops or decreases you may not be able to pay back the loan.

You Can End Up Losing Money

- If the investments go down in value and you have borrowed money, your losses would be larger than had you invested using your own money.
- Whether your investments make money or not you will still have to pay back the loan plus interest. You may have to sell other assets or use money you had set aside for other purposes to pay back the loan.
- If you used your home as security for the loan, you may lose your home.
- If the investments go up in value, you may still not make enough money to cover the costs of borrowing.

Tax Considerations

- You should not borrow to invest just to receive a tax deduction.
- Interest costs are not always tax deductible. You may not be entitled to a tax deduction and may be reassessed for past deductions. You may want to consult a tax professional to determine whether your interest costs will be deductible before borrowing to invest.

Your advisor should discuss with you the risks of borrowing to invest.

I acknowledge that I have reviewed and understand the above.

CONFLICTS OF INTEREST DISCLOSURE

Moneystrat Securities Inc. (Moneystrat), as a member of the Mutual Fund Dealers Association of Canada (MFDA) and as an Exempt Market Dealer (EMD) registered with the Ontario Securities Commission (OSC), has an obligation to approach and address any material conflicts of interest it encounters in your best interest. This document sets out important information about your relationship with Moneystrat and your Moneystrat representative. It explains what our material conflicts of interest are, what risks they may pose to you, and how we manage them.

Conflicts of interest can arise in a number of different situations, including where the interests of different parties, such as the interests of a client and the interests of a client's investment advisor or mutual fund dealer, are not the same. A conflict of interest may also arise where a client's investment advisor or mutual fund dealer is influenced to put their interests ahead of their client's interests as a result of monetary or other benefits available to the advisor or dealer. Generally, a conflict of interest is material if the conflict may be reasonably expected to affect your decisions as a client and/or Moneystrat or its representatives' decisions, in the circumstances.

In general, we manage material conflicts of interest as follows:

- We have policies and procedures in place to assist us to identify and manage conflicts of interest.
- If we are unable to eliminate a material conflict of interest, we address the conflict in the best interest of our client.
- Moneystrat representatives and employees are required to comply with Moneystrat policies and procedures, which are designed to meet all regulatory requirements and to put the interests of our client first.
- Moneystrat strives to maintain consistent compensation practices across its product offerings so that we minimize any financial or other benefits to its representatives that could influence their investment recommendations.
- We provide clients with information about our material conflicts of interest so that you may consider if these conflicts are important to you, and we encourage you to speak with your Moneystrat representative if you have any questions or concerns.

Moneystrat's Material Conflicts of Interest and How They are Managed

The Moneystrat Group of Companies

Moneystrat Securities Inc. (Moneystrat), Moneystrat Financial Services Inc. (MFSI) and Moneystrat Insurance Management Inc. (MIMI) are related companies with common ownership and management. These companies are governed by the laws and are subject to regulatory supervision based on the type of company and its product offering. For example, as a retail mutual fund dealer, Moneystrat is subject to oversight by the MFDA. In addition, all Moneystrat representatives and employees are required to comply with Moneystrat's compliance policies and procedures.

Moneystrat, through its related companies, is able to offer clients a range of products to meet their financial needs. These products include mutual funds offered through Moneystrat, tax preparation offered through MFSI and term life insurance offered through MIMI. Moneystrat representatives receive a referral fee for clients they refer to MFSI and MIMI. These referral arrangements are disclosed to clients.

Compensation Received from Mutual Fund Companies

Each mutual fund offered through Moneystrat has a sales charge and trailing commission rate that is established by the fund manager and is detailed in the Fund Facts documentation.

Moneystrat, as a retail mutual fund dealer, principally uses the embedded compensation model. This means we may receive compensation for our services from fund managers in the form of an upfront sales commission when mutual funds are purchased by a client. We also receive ongoing trailing commissions from the fund manager based on the amount of assets held in the client's account. Moneystrat representatives are paid a fixed percentage of the sales and trailing commissions received by Moneystrat.

The timing and amount of compensation received by Moneystrat and its representatives depends upon the sales charge option chosen by the client and the type of investments principally held by the mutual fund. For sales commissions, there are three models available, a deferred sales charge (DSC), a low load sales charge (LL) and a front-end sales charge (FE). The DSC model favours a larger upfront sales commission, but reduced trailing commission amounts relative to LL or FE, for example. It is anticipated that the DSC and LL options will no longer be available to clients by June 2022. For trailing commissions, investments in mutual funds holding equities may provide more trailing commissions to Moneystrat and its representatives than mutual funds holding fixed income investments. These circumstances could potentially influence Moneystrat, and Moneystrat representatives' investment recommendations.

Moneystrat manages these conflicts of interest by informing clients about the sales charge options available and by requiring client sales options and fee schedules to be suitable and in alignment with the client's personal financial circumstances, including time horizon and investment objectives. Moneystrat representatives review with, and provide written disclosure to, their clients on the sales charge options and the related fee schedules before the purchase of a mutual fund. Afterwards, client transactions are reviewed for suitability purposes, which includes oversight performed by Moneystrat.

Supervisory Level Conflicts of Interest

Moneystrat Compliance Managers perform certain supervisory activities over the Moneystrat representatives, which includes the review of client account openings and purchase and sale transactions. Compliance Managers are generally paid for these services from the mutual fund sales revenue generated by the Moneystrat representatives. These circumstances could potentially influence a Compliance Manager's decision-making.

Compliance Managers are responsible for properly performing their supervisory activities and they have specific contractual obligations to Moneystrat and regulatory obligations arising from their registration as a Compliance Manager. There are two Compliance Managers at Moneystrat. Both are registered with securities regulators as Compliance Managers and are required to keep current on prevailing rules and regulations. However, both Compliance Managers are also Dealing Representatives which could present a potential conflict of interest. Moneystrat manages these conflicts of interest by requiring the supervision of client activities of each Compliance Manager/Dealing Representative by the other Compliance Manager.

Outside Business and Volunteer Activities of Moneystrat Representatives

Moneystrat representatives and employees may participate in outside business and volunteer activities, if the representative or employee meets applicable Moneystrat and regulatory requirements and restrictions. These activities may include engaging in business interests outside of Moneystrat, which for Moneystrat representatives could be full or part-time employment, serving on a board of directors of a charitable or non-charitable organization, or other paid or unpaid activities. Moneystrat manages potential conflicts of interest arising from outside activities of Moneystrat representatives and employees by requiring disclosure and approval of such activities, and in certain instances Moneystrat representatives are required to comply with specific conditions regarding the conduct of their outside activities, which may include informing clients or potential clients in writing about an outside activity.

Personal Financial Dealings with Clients

Personal financial dealings with clients includes, but is not limited to, borrowing from or lending funds to clients, being involved in private investment schemes with clients, sharing client investment profits or losses, giving to, or receiving from, clients monetary or other benefits, purchasing assets from clients outside normal course business, and having full control or authority of client financial affairs, such as acting as a power of attorney for a client or executor of a client's estate. For the most part, Moneystrat manages material conflicts of interest arising from personal financial dealings with clients by prohibiting such arrangements. In limited circumstances, the conflict may be managed by placing specific conditions on the arrangement. These prohibitions and restrictions are set out in Moneystrat policies and procedures and reinforced through periodic compliance training.
